Dozens of Delawareans complete their term of incarceration and reenter society every day, but adjusting to life outside of a correctional institution can be very difficult. The reentry process requires an individual to follow very detailed, and often onerous, procedures which can overburden those trying to reestablish their lives. While many of these procedures are well intentioned and have a purpose, we must recognize the challenges these individuals face on their road to a successful reintegration.

This interactive event is designed to place participants "in the shoes" of a recently incarcerated individual. The simulation exposes participants to the difficulties formerly incarcerated persons face upon reentering the community.

This simulation will afford participants an understanding of the challenges of reentry and identify ways we can collaborate to improve the likelihood of success for returning citizens.
